

SPMS news

HIGHLIGHTS OF THE WEEK

SPMS Biweekly e-Bulletin | 21 July 2017

KICKSTARTER CAMPAIGN BY SPMS STUDENTS

SPMS students Ryan Tang and his team will be launching their Kickstarter campaign "Signal" this Saturday, 22 July 2017 at 3pm!

Signal is a motion-detecting turn and brake signal for bicycles and other personal mobility devices such as skateboards, e-scooters and hover-boards. It is designed as a helmet attachment, developed with the primary purpose of enhancing safety.

They will also be launching at The Maker Faire Singapore 2017, which will be held at the Singapore Science Centre. Get your tickets here at <http://makerfaresingapore.com/>

Do drop by to support and join them for the countdown! Follow their journey via Instagram and Facebook @theofficialsignal

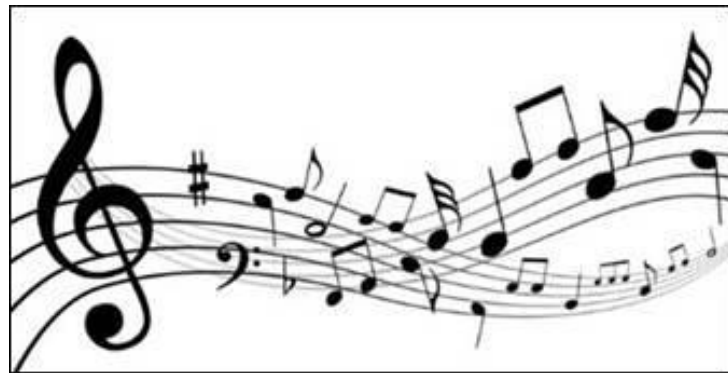

To find out, please visit: signal.thankyouforbackingus.com

BEHIND-THE-SCENES FOR SPMS UPCOMING ORIENTATION VIDEOS

To welcome our 2017 batch of incoming students, the school has been gearing up to produce fresh content, featuring student services, research discipline and academic life. We are excited to have our very own SPMS talents acting together with students of WKWSC1 in this production. Stay tuned this August, you might be able to catch these familiar faces in classes once school reopens!

MUSICIANS AND SINGERS WANTED FOR MUSIC INTIME

We are looking for talented musicians and singers to perform at next semester's Music Intime. Music Intime is a lunchtime concert organised by SPMS that is held every Wednesday from 12.45pm to 1.15pm at the MAS Atrium. Music Intime made its debut on 14 September 2016 and was well-received by the SPMS community. Please email to gracehoe@ntu.edu.sg if you are interested to showcase your musical prowess or if you know of anyone in NTU who is suitable.

© 2017 School of Physical and Mathematical Sciences

If you were unable to load the e-bulletin on your device, please view the PDF version of this e-bulletin here.

RAFFLES INSTITUTION VISITS SPMS

About 30 students from the Raffles Institution visited SPMS on 13 July. Dr Ho Shen Yong who led the group here, warmly welcomed the students and teachers at the SPMS lobby. They were brought around the school and were introduced to the various labs such as the CDPT lab and Spintronics lab.

FIRST ALUMNI MOVIE SESSION

The first ever Alumni Movie Session was held on 15 July at Suntec GV. It was a delightful evening to meet our alumni, and what better way to reconnect, than at the movie screening of "War for the Planet of the Apes" which scored a rating of 95% on Rotten Tomatoes. Together with the faculty and family members, the atmosphere was filled with laughter, smiles and boisterous conversations.

TAMPINES JUNIOR COLLEGE VISITS SPMS

On 8 July, SPMS welcomed the students and teachers from Tampines Junior College. They were taken on a guided tour around the school by SPMS faculty members, visiting the labs and research facilities, which helped them develop a better understanding of the school and its degree programmes.

Follow us on Instagram and Facebook for more updates